Installation works to reduce energy, water use

By Dewey Baird

Directorate of Public Works

President Clinton signed into law Executive Order 13123 June 3. This executive order amended the prior Energy Policy Act 12902 and increased the mandated energy reduction levels for Federal facilities from 30 percent in 2005 to 35 percent by 2010 relative to the base year of 1985. Greenhouse gas emissions generated to produce energy must likewise be reduced 30 percent.

Because it takes energy to move water to a federal facility and to move sewage away, water conservation is stressed. No federal facility is exempt.

The federal government owns more than 500,000 buildings and accounts for an expenditure of $200 billion annually on products and services. As a major consumer, the federal government can promote energy efficiency, water conservation, and the use of renewable energy products, and help foster markets for emerging technologies.

The Presidio of Monterey and POM Annex have tracked energy use and costs since 1985. The analysis indicates that while the installations are on track with energy goals, there remains much that must be done to keep abreast of the mandated reduction of energy and water use. We can very easily reduce the installations' energy bills and greenhouse emissions required to generate that energy while making the POM and POM Annex conservation leaders in the Monterey community.

An enormous amount of energy, water and expense can be saved if each resident and employee:

- ☐ Turns off lights, computers and non-essential appliances during lunch breaks and after duty hours. Lights and computers are being left on in barracks when vacant.
- ☐ Insists on green lighting products. Replace incandescent bulbs with compact fluorescent lamps.
- ☐ Reports water leaks by calling the work order desk: POM at 242-5526 and POM Annex at 242-7664 during duty hours. Report all after duty hours water leaks to 242-5119.
- ☐ Uses only enough water for the task at hand.
- ☐ Practices the water use policy established by the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District.
- ☐ Recycles, walks, bicycles and car pools to reduce emissions.

For free copies of the irrigation policy and energy and water conservation materials contact me at the Directorate of Public Works at 242-6315.

Safety outlines measures to prevent electrical hazards

Malfunctioning electrical equipment, overloaded electrical circuits, and deteriorated wiring are among the major causes of building fires.

The following preventive measures are to be taken to correct electrical hazards:

Overloading wiring and electrical circuits is prohibited. If circuit breakers or fuses open, they shall not be used until the cause of the overload has been determined and eliminated. In the event a circuit breaker or fuse opens after resetting or fuse replacement, a qualified electrician shall be called to investigate and repair the source of the overload.

Portable electric heaters are authorized to supplement an emergency "no heat" condition and are supplied by Directorate of Public Works. Only heaters with "tip over" protection, ratings less than 1,500 Watts of power, Underwriters' Laboratories or other nationally recognized laboratory labeled, and used in a manner that does not overload the electrical circuits are authorized. No privately owned heaters are authorized in the work place!

Deteriorated and frayed electrical insulation shall be placed out of service and reported to the DPW immediately.

Temporary wiring (extension cords) are not authorized as a substitute for permanent fixed wiring. Two wire extension cords are not authorized for use in any work center. Power strips with surge protection and circuit breakers are authorized for use with office equipment such as automated data processing items, copiers, typewriters and shredders. If electrical service is needed in an area in excess of 90 days, a permanent duplex outlet must be installed.

Improper installation of electrical fixtures and equipment by unqualified personnel, and use of electrical equipment not having U/L Listing are serious fire hazards and shall not be condoned. Any electrical device, other than the "plug in" type shall be installed by qualified electrician only. (Courtesy of Directorate of Safety, source: Presidio of Monterey Pamphlet 385-1)

New Navy education opportunities to come online soon

By Petty Officer 1st Class Brigitte Barnes
Chief of Naval Operations Public Affairs

In a recently released message to commanding officers about the Navy Education Vision, Adm. Jay Johnson, chief of Naval Operations, said he wants to place immediate emphasis on incorporation of educational accomplishment into each sailor's career – both officer and enlisted – to provide sailors today with the opportunity to make lifelong learning a reality.

CNO has approved the implementation of a program for the enlisted force called the Navy College Program, which would simplify and enhance the opportunity of every sailor to earn a college degree.

"In the past, young people joined the Navy to get money to go to college after their service," said Johnson. "Now, young people will join the Navy to go to college while serving their country. This is a powerful notion, and one which will benefit the sailor, the Navy and the nation."

The Navy has formed partnerships with accredited universities and colleges that will grant credit to sailors for training and experience gained in their career field, in addition to those credits earned through traditional education.

"Targeted to come on-line in October, I believe this program will have a direct impact on career satisfaction, individual readiness, recruiting viability and force retention," said Johnson. "The Navy College Program will be geared toward the realities of life at sea, and we will use the Internet to provide sailors with on-line access to their college transcript."

For the officer corps, a series of programs will be implemented to provide every unrestricted line, restricted line and staff corps officer the opportunity for advanced education as a normal part of their career.

According to CNO, every career officer will be afforded the opportunity to attain both a relevant graduate degree and appropriate professional military education. New opportunities for officers, such as "tuition assurance," a program offering full tuition payment for selected career officers, and "the Washington D.C. Intern" program, will be offered as early as this fall.

Two new programs will be offered by the Naval Postgraduate School to meet the needs of URL officers – the Systems Engineering and Integration curriculum and the Information Strategy and Operations curriculum. Additionally the Naval War College will continue to expand its seminar and correspondence programs to reach broader portions of the Fleet. According to CNO, this expansion will include partnering with NPS to offer PME to all Navy students at Monterey.

The admiral also said that new emphasis and funding priority will be placed on the development of distributive learning courses for both PME and graduate education. "The bottom line is that educational milestones will continue to rise in importance in an officer's career path, irrespective of designator," said the CNO.

"Our goal is a better-educated force from seaman to admiral, a force fully prepared for the uncertainties which lie ahead," said Johnson. Details on the implementation of these new programs will be explained in upcoming weeks. (Courtesy of Navy News Service)

Army uniform changes require purchasing some replacement items before Sept. 30

By Tonya Johnson
Army News Service

Army uniforms will have upcoming changes, and soldiers will need to replace older uniforms in the future.

There is a new shade in the Army green uniform, in which AG 489 replaces AG 344. "It's a richer, darker green, and it gives the uniform a better appearance," said Master Sgt. Debra Wylie, uniform policy officer for the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel.

The AG 344 shade will not be allowed for wear after Sept. 30. Female soldiers are required to have one Class A jacket, two skirts and two slacks of the new uniform, and male soldiers should have one Class A jacket and two trousers. According to Wylie, the uniform for females will cost $175, and female officers must pay $4.70 extra for the braid conversion kit for their uniform. The uniform will cost enlisted men $165 and male officers $175. Soldiers need to know that the AG 344 and AG 489 can not be mixed and matched.

Wylie noted that the yearly clothing allowance, in which enlisted males received $334.80 and enlisted females received $421.20 for 1999, could help pay for the uniforms or parts of the uniforms that need to be replaced.

As far as Class B uniform changes, there were new changes made in shirts, skirts and slacks for female soldiers. Female soldiers can now choose between two shirt styles, a mandatory tuck in shirt, which costs $9.65, and a new overblouse (optional), which costs around $15. Old overblouses cannot be worn after Sept. 30. The long sleeve version of the tuck-in shirt costs $14.45, according to Wylie.

"The tuck-in shirt is long enough so that the shirt doesn't come out of their pants. The overblouse is designed so that the shirt doesn't come up when a female raises her arm," said Wylie.

Wylie also mentioned that females are required by Oct. 1 to purchase a new wrap around neck tab with hook and pile fastener.

New skirts have been designed for wear, making the former A-line skirt unauthorized after Sept. 30, 2002. Wylie is pleased by the change and said, "I've been in the Army for 19 years, and it's the first change I've seen in the skirts and the trousers." The new skirt has a back zipper, and a kick pleat, which offers a stylish design, yet allows for easier movement. The skirt also has a non-slip waist band, and has two darts on the front and back of the skirt.

"We received good feedback on the skirt. They [female soldiers] especially liked the kick pleat," said Wylie. The new skirt will cost $24.25.

Female soldiers will also see a change in their slacks. "The new slacks allow for easier alterations and look more tailored," said Wylie.

The new slacks, which cost $28.60, will have belt loops, unlike the previous slacks. A one-inch black web belt with a one-eighth inch yellow brass buckle must be worn with the slacks. The belt must be worn so that the tipped end is to the female's right, which is the opposite of the male's belt on their pants. The slacks, which have a mandatory purchase date of Oct. 1, 2002, can be worn without a blouse if the soldier is wearing a long or short sleeve overblouse.

"We're able to offer female soldiers more sizes, especially trousers in particular," said Wylie. The new slacks features sizes in petite, regular, tall, juniors, misses and womens.

Expecting soldiers will see a change in the maternity uniform. The new uniform, according to Wylie, will provide extra comfort and looks better. The new maternity ensemble includes one long sleeve shirt, two short sleeve shirts, one tunic, two slacks and two skirts. The whole ensemble should cost a little over $200. The individual prices are as follows: tunic, $32.95; one pair of pants, $27.95; skirt, $12.70; short sleeve shirt, $19.95; and long sleeve shirt, $10.95.

Male soldiers will see changes in their long and short sleeve shirts. The new shirts have pleated pockets, a stand-up collar and are made with heavier material, according to Wylie. The short sleeve shirt will cost $10.20, and the long sleeve shirt costs $11.45. Older shirts cannot be worn after Sept. 30.

Males and females must also replace their footwear, even though there hasn't been a mandatory possession date set. A smooth toe, black oxford shoe will replace the previous moccasin toe shoe. The new shoes will cost $28.10 for females, and $31.10 for males.

Soldiers will see changes in their outerwear as well. A new unisex cardigan sweater (optional) has replaced the individual male and female black Army cardigan. The new sweaters are 50 percent acrylic/50 percent wool. They can be worn unbuttoned or buttoned indoors, but must be worn buttoned outdoors, except for pregnant soldiers. The cardigan can be worn cuffed or uncuffed, but cannot be rolled or pushed up above the wrist.

The old sweaters cannot be worn after Sept. 30, 2000. The new unisex cardigan sweater costs $39.

A new black all-weather coat, which is double breasted and belted, replaces the unbelted black all-weather coat and interim version double breasted coat. The new coat, which is required for wear by Oct. 1, 2001, will cost $77.45 for females, and $75.65 for males.

Hot Weather Battle Dress Uniforms will receive a new look as well. The Enhanced Hot Weather Battle Dress Uniforms will replace the current HWBDU's.

According to Wylie, there will not be a wear out date for the current HWBDU's, and stocks will be used until exhausted. Both BDU uniforms can be mixed and matched. (Editor's Note: Johnson is a summer college intern working with Army News Service.)

Command screening board meets beginning Sept. 16

Approaching the fifth cycle of the Command Selection Process, the CSP provides an opportunity for Air Force colonels and colonel-selects to compete for command positions based on a realistic view of openings. All colonels compete for command opportunities on a "level playing field" and those who aspire to command will receive a realistic assessment of their standing in this competitive process. This year's command screening board will be held at the Air Force Personnel Center at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, beginning Sept. 16.

Colonel and colonel selects are eligible to compete based on the following criteria:

- For wing commander: Less than 26 years of commissioned service as of Jan. 1, 2000, and pinned on colonel as of Jan. 1, 2000.

- For group commander: Less than 24 years of commissioned service as of Jan. 1, 2000, with no date-of-rank restrictions. For the medical group, less than 26 years of service and a date of separation greater than May 1, 2002.

In addition the following experience is required:

- Rated command positions: Officers must have flown within the last seven years.

- Functional command positions (space, logistics, communications, intelligence, civil engineering, office of special investigation, etc.): Must have held the duty Air Force specialty code during the last seven years.

- Support command positions: All line AFSCs will be eligible to compete.

- Medical command positions: Must be a member of a health professions corps. Colonel and colonel-selects are ineligible if they:

- Have an approved retirement date.

- Have an open unfavorable information file.

- Are a senior military professor at the Air Force Academy.

- Are assigned to a joint or critical acquisition position less than 24 months as of Oct. 1, 2000. An officer cannot be ineligible for two consecutive boards because they are joint encumbered.

- Are an academic year 1999/2000 National Defense University student and a joint specialty officer who by law must go to a joint job.

- Have already completed same level command test except OSI and health professions officers.

Additionally, the CSB will only consider officers who are volunteers to command at the wing and group levels. Officers who do not wish to be considered by the board may decline consideration, prior to the board convening, without prejudice and still be eligible in accordance with the criteria above for consideration by future boards.

Eligible officers will be notified by their military personnel flight in July. More information on the CSP or other colonel group matters can be found at <http://www.colonels.hq.af.mil>. (Courtesy of Air Force News Service)

Want to place an ad?

Explanation of classified ad policy

The following information is provided to explain and clarify policy for individuals who would like to publish classified ads in POM-Mart.

Military members, retirees and Department of Defense civilian employees with valid identification cards are authorized to place classified ads in the Community News.

To place an ad in the Community News, complete the form on the back page of the Community News and deliver it to the Public Affairs Office, Building 614, Room 142, Presidio of Monterey, 93944. Ads may also be sent via e-mail to the editor at wright@pom-emh1.army.mil. Individuals should be sure to include all information requested on the form, including the category of the ad.

Daytime work telephone numbers are for use by Community News staff only; they will not be listed in ads. Individuals may place up to three ads in different categories per issue. Each ad should not exceed 35 words; itemized property for sale should be valued at least $10.

The Community News staff will make every effort to publish ads accurately, but we reserve the right to edit ads to meet readability, format and space requirements. Report typographical errors to the editor, and they will be corrected in the next available issue.

Acceptable classified ads include items in the categories of Autos; Motorcycles; Trucks, Vans, Sport, RVs; Wanted; Sports Equipment; Entertainment, Music Items; Computers and Accessories; Lost and Found; Miscellaneous; Pets or Household Items. Items must be for one-time sale or for free – not for a profit-sharing venture of multiple items. The Community News does not take responsibility for items advertised.

Classified ads for businesses, rentals, free information, help for hire or tutoring, or illegal items are not authorized. Each ad will be published in three consecutive issues unless it is renewed or cancelled.

The date the ad was first published is printed in parentheses following each ad. For example, ads dated (07-01) will continue to run through the July 30 issue. Classified ads may be renewed or cancelled by phone; however, new ads, additions or major changes to ads must be done in writing before the Wednesday deadline for the next issue. Deadlines are generally a week and a half prior to the next publication. When calling in reference to an ad, be sure to identify the category, first few words of the ad, phone number as printed and the date following the ad.

Deadline for the July 30 issue is Wednesday; deadline for the Aug. 13 issue is Aug. 4.

Please refer questions concerning this policy to the editor of the Community News at the Public Affairs Office, at 242-5104 or 242-6426.
